

Fun Safe Philly Summer for Reading Challenge

Mayor Michael A. Nutter is challenging youth, ages 5 – 18, to read three books this summer and write a short summary of their favorite book from June 1, 2012 to July 27, 2012.

Youth who sign up for a library card, read at least three books and write a short summary of one book will be entered into the Mayor's Fun Safe Summer for Reading Challenge raffle. They will be eligible to receive two tickets to a Philadelphia Phillies game and other prizes.

To be eligible, participants must fill out this form including signature and contact information for their guardians. The forms should be turned into any local Free Library of Philadelphia branch across the city. Participants must answer discuss one of the three books.

To find out about free summer programming and service opportunities across the city, please call 311 or visit www.phila.gov/youthprograms to learn more.
